Munshiram Manoharlal Publishers, 2015. Hardcover. Book Condition: New. 2nd Edition. This book makes a total departure from some well-established notions about bhakti and the Bhakti movement. The author has tried to establish the fact that the accepted academic definition of bhakti is a modern construction; and that it was artificially formulated by certain Western Indologists of the nineteenth century with the aid of criteria which had no relevance in the context of Hinduism. The process of its formulation has been examined historiographically in this critique to show how it had gradually taken shape between 1846 and 1909. The reasons for its subsequent incorporation in modern Indian...
