

Teaching EFL Online

By Andrew R. Webster

Books On Demand. Paperback. Book Condition: New. This item is printed on demand. Paperback. 122 pages. This work explores the role of the e-moderator, taking account of the skills required and the processes involved in creating and teaching an online English as a Foreign Language (EFL) course. It also details those theories which are applicable to online learning and how they are represented through various models, thus creating a framework to assist the e-moderation process. In particular, Salmons five-stage model (2004) is analysed to assess its effectiveness in helping to prepare a new e-moderator to teach in an online environment. Qualitative self-study research is conducted involving an analysis of the e-moderators reflective journal. This method can be particularly insightful, uncovering the e-moderators beliefs, perceptions and challenges encountered throughout the process. Thus, in-depth data is collected and used in evaluating an approach to e-moderation. It reveals how Salmons five-stage model and others can be considerably helpful, although not sufficient in themselves, for successful online teaching and learning. In this regard, a critical appraisal and detailed analysis of Salmons model relating to this research is conducted to assess the skills required to become a successful e-moderator. This research reveals not only the...
