D: Professor of Theology in the Reformed Presbyterian Seminary at Allegheny City, Penn, 1868-1886 and Pastor of the Third Reformed Presbyterian Church, New York, 1856-1868 This book has been compiled and published primarily for the ecclesiastical connection with which Dr. Sloane was identified, and to which his whole life was devoted. It was by the advice of his friends in the Covenanter church that the work was undertaken, and it is hoped that the result will meet with their approval. The materials were fragmentary and slight, and much that was expected will not be found; but the editor was anxious to use only what was of undoubted authenticity. He hopes that due allowance will be made for his apparent shortcomings. But it is his hope that the book will find a wider circulation than among the members of the Reformed Presbyterian denomination. For such the introduction has been prepared as essential to the comprehension of the man whose work and character are delineated in these pages. He approached the great questions of his day from a stand-point strange to many, and which is only comprehensible in the light of his ancestry and his beliefs.
