Cherie Logan is a founder of which is made up of a group of first and second generation homeschooling moms and their daughters. She developed this series of tips to help mothers enjoy their home school experience. The tips are concise and easy to master and they help ease the worries and frustrations moms as teachers often face. For more than 30 years, she had shared these tried and true tips with other families and have repeatedly seen them help each woman become a confident homeschooling mom who guides and grows with children as they become a spiritually centered, educationally self-motivated, socially well-adjusted, and playfully connected family Volume 2 - Read Me a Book - Tell Me a Story When I started to write this volume, it was specifically directed to the homeschooling family. But as the writing unfolded, I realized that it was really directed to every family and to every age. The first purpose of this volume is to share tips on teaching reading...
